

Brewer Design introduces the Most Innovative Stool to hit the Dental Market

Menomonee Falls, WI. May 1, 2009 --- Brewer Design, the market leader in ergonomic seating, is pleased to announce their newest addition to the dental market; the DynaCore™ 9400. The DynaCore™ is the most innovative dental stool to ever hit the market.

The DynaCore™ stool combines Brewer Design's clinically researched seating with the patented Therapeutic Dynamic Seating System developed with CoreWerks, Inc. The technology incorporated in the DynaCore™ is life changing and will relieve back pain by inducing natural posture and strengthening core muscles and endurance while you work.

Features of the stool include: Therapeutic Dynamic Seating System that provides 360 degree tilt allowing user to find their natural balance point and induces proper posture that strengthens core muscles and endurance while relieving back pain; Tension Lock which maintains consistency of preferred movement settings; Tension Adjustment which includes a pump and release valve to infinitely adjust tension at the touch of a finger; Ergonomic Saddle-Style Seating which has been clinically designed to evenly distribute weight and relieve pressure points; and Ultimate Adjustable Backrest which offers 3-way ratcheted control for constant lumbar support.

"The DynaCore is our latest product designed using clinical research to improve the health of dental professionals", Paul Siepmann, President of the Brewer Company, LLC stated. "There is nothing like it in the market today."
